Dry Goods Company.BANK OF OWL ROBBED OF THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS

Special to the Evening News.

Owl, I. T., Nov. 30.—At two o'clock Thursday morning robbers effected an entrance through the rear door of the Bank of Owl of this place and succeeded in blowing open the safe, thereby securing some $3,000.00, all in currency.

Two charges of nitro-glycerine were used, the first blowing off the outer door while the second admitted the thieves to the cash vault itself.

The money taken was mostly that received from the two days sale of town lots held here Tuesday and Wednesday.

Not a cent of silver was taken nor were the postoffice funds, which were kept in the safe, molested.

Parties living near the bank heard two slight rumbling sounds during the early morning, but not until the assistant cashier arrived to open the building shortly after daylight this morning was the fact known. The safe is an utter wreck as is also the front of the building. The two powerful charges of explosives worked havoc with the interior of the structure and another safe was wired for and business will be resumed Friday morning.

It is not known how many men are implicated in the robbery, but it is thought possibly two did the job, as a hardware store was broken into and two revolvers taken.

Bloodhounds are now on the ground from Wapanucka and every effort is being made to apprehend the robbers.

The bank is carrying $4,000.00 burglary insurance and is therefore amply protected.

Miss Maude Tennery, one of Ardmore's school teachers, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hines White on west 13th street.

STATEHOOD THE TOPIC AT WHITE HOUSE LUNCHEON

Washington, Nov. 30.—Hans Frantz of Oklahoma and his brother, Orville, who is a student at Harvard, took luncheon with the President Wednesday. Senator Beveridge was also a guest. The prospect of joint statehood was discussed and it is reported that both the President and Senator Beveridge expressed the opinion that the bill admitting the two territories would pass without much delay.

Senator Beveridge is irrevocably committed to the policy of combining the New Mexico and Arizona proposition with that of

If there is one thing above all others that people are particular about it is their wearing apparel, even if it is to be had for the taking.

This was evidenced Wednesday night by the store breaker, who entered the houses of T. J. Chambliss and Reed & Harrison.

At the former place he gained entrance through the rear door. Proceeding to the safe he opened the outer door which, however, was not locked, but did not open the inner door and the currency and silver was found intact. Not a piece of goods was found missing here, but not so at the store of Reed & Harrison. Here the burglar secured a complete change of raiment throughout, including shoes, clothing, sweater, hose and some thirty pocket knives.

The gentleman made his choice with the utmost care, taking only what suited his taste. At the shoe counter he examined at least a dozen pair before securing those to his liking.

These being low cut patent leathers. Arriving at the hose shelves he examined a number of socks and selected only the higher priced ones. The same was true of the sweaters. He selected a handsome white and green $5.00 garment from among those of a lesser price. As fast as he selected a garment he exchanged it for the old one and the store presented a scene this morning not unlike that of a bachelors boudoir who dressed to catch a train.

Bloodhounds were put on the trail this morning but up to the hour of going to press no developments have occurred.

AN IMPRESSIVE UNION
THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Near the hour of eleven Thursday forenoon, at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, the union Thanksgiving service began. The building early was crowded almost to the point of discomfort. Right here will be inserted the parenthetical suggestion, that union meetings be held in the largest auditorium obtainable.

Rev. Martin officiated as master of ceremonies. The service was opened with the singing of the Doxology by the union choir, followed by an impressive invocation by Rev. John A. Williams.

Next was the song "America," followed by prayer led by Dr. S. A. Steel.

After the singing of "Coronation" Dr. Steel proceeded to deliver the Thanksgiving sermon.

The text chosen was 1 Thessalonians, 5:8. "In every thing give thanks;"—The doctor preached a characteristically strong, edifying sermon, embellished by striking illustrations, personal reminiscences and epigrams.

Several classes of blessings were enumerated, for all of which the people should be profoundly thankful. Personal, social and political blessings—these three were accentuated.

In closing, the speaker quoted President Roosevelt, attributing our national greatness to the high standard of the average citizen. His hearers were exhorted to bring their personal lives up to the highest standard.

Before the close of the service Rev. Rippey was called to take a collection to supplement the fund for alleviating the winter sufferings of the poor. A neat little sum was subscribed.

BIG BATTLE BETWEEN THE TROOPS AND MUTINEERS

St. Petersburg, Nov. 30.—Sevastopol was yesterday the scene of a desperate battle between the mutinous sailors and the troops in the forts on shore. During the battle the town and forts were bombarded by the guns of the cruiser Otschakoff, which lies a burning wreck off Admiralty Point, its hull riddled with shells and its flaunting red ensign of revolution hauled down.

Many of the crew of the Otsch-akoff were killed or wounded.

According to one report the barracks of the mutineers was carried by storm after the mutinous fleet, which is said to have numbered ten vessels, had surrendered and the whole position is now in the hands of the troops under the command of Gen. Neptoff. The Associated Press, however, is unable to guarantee the correctness of this report.

SOUTH BOUND METEOR
WRECKED NEAR RANDOLPH

The southbound Frisco Meteor, passing through Ada at 9 o'clock a.m., was wrecked Thursday morning a few miles south of Randolph. Just how serious the wreck is we are unable to learn, but enough is known to say that three coaches are in the ditch and the northbound meteor was detoured by way of South McAlester and Holdenville.

Shortly after noon an emergency train was sent out of Frisco to the scene of the wreck and laborers were picked up at this point and along the line.

Details are unobtainable.

SCRIPTURAL THANKSGIVING DAY.

And this shall be unto you a memorial; and ye shall keep it a feast to the Lord throughout your generations.

Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most high.

Being enriched in everything to all bountifulness which causes, through us, thanksgiving to God.

Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the father.

CONSIDERING the national dedication of this day to paying divine honors to the Supreme Being, and its general observance as such, why should not the holiday be by legislative enactment clothed with the same dignity and inviolability accorded the Sabbath day? Legal protection of the Sabbath is largely based upon its dignity and necessity considered merely as a human institution. Sanctity may attach to a mere human institution if dedicated to a sacred purpose.

Remember the Thanksgiving Day to keep it holy.

McCURDY RESIGNS ON ACCOUNT OF HIS HEALTH

New York, Nov. 30.—The resignation of Richard A. McCurdy as president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company was the most important development of the life insurance situation yesterday.

Mr. McCurdy is succeeded temporarily by Frederick Cromwell, the treasurer of the company, but it is understood that the position has been offered to James H. Eckles, who was controller of the currency during the administration of President Cleveland and is now president of the Commercial National Bank of Chicago.

Six Hundred Bales Burned.

Shawnee, Okla., Nov. 30.—The little city of Okemah, 11, I. T., north of here, suffered a cotton fire loss yesterday which has completely paralyzed the cotton business for the present, as bankers refuse to advance any more money on cotton until better arrangements are made to protect it from fire and weather. Six hundred bales of fine quality were stored on the railroad depot platform when a spark from a freight engine set the fleecy stuff on fire and for a time the entire place seemed doomed to destruction. The loss is about $35,000.

Notice.

The tax roll for 1905 is now ready and parties desiring to pay their taxes can do so by calling at my office. 251 201 J. I. Warren, Recorder.

Comes Home for Credentials.

Washington, Nov. 30.—L. F. Parker, Jr., attorney for the Cherokee tribe of Indians, left last night for Vinita to gather some evidence to convince the secretary of the interior that Chief Rogers is legally the head of the Cherokee tribe. Since his impeachment by the Boudinot council a protest against the recognition of Rogers has been filed.

Raymond Still in Suspense.

Washington, Nov. 30.—It was stated at the white house last afternoon that no appointment to the judgeship of the western district of Indian Territory, now held by Judge Raymond, would be made until after the assembling of congress.

AWAKENED BY THE KAISER

Emperor William's Descent Upon a Subject Whose Hearing Was Poor.

During the last maneuvers of the German army the Kaiser rose one morning at daybreak in order to get a general impression of the disposition of his troops. So, followed by his entire staff, he made for a distant hill that commanded an extensive view, reported the London Chronicle. There was a village on the hill, and the clattering of the horses' hoofs on the cobbles brought most of the inhabitants to their windows. The one person who slept through the din was a deaf old chemist, whose flat-roofed residence was perched right on the summit. The roof was the very place for the emperor. So he called a halt, and one of his staff was sent to claim admission. The officer knocked and knocked, but in vain. At the third onslaught, however, steps were heard descending the stairs, and the voice of the old chemist demanded: "What silly fool is that?" The staff contained its laughter, for the emperor had heard. But without showing any sign of annoyance his majesty uttered the one word, "Wilhelm!" "Wilhelm who?" demanded the chemist. "Wilhelm von Hohenzollern!" thundered the emperor. The shivering chemist, covered with confusion, flung open the door, doubtless expecting the German equivalent to Siberia, but the emperor strode past him without even giving him a look. When he was leaving, however, he called the man to his horse's head and placed in his hand the largest coin which bears the imperial likeness. "There!" he said, "accept this portrait of a silly fool!"

EXECUTION OF SPIES.

Men Who Are Selected to Do the Shooting Are More or Less Affected.

The ceremony of disposing of a condemned spy in the English army always follows a definite precedent, says the New York Herald. The unfortunate man is surrounded by a detachment of infantry, and, after he is provided with a pick and shovel, he is marched off to a selected spot and ordered to dig his own grave. This done, the tools are taken from him and his eyes are banded. The attending chaplain reads portions selected from the burial service and from the ranks of the escort 12 men are selected at random by the officer in charge. These men, having stacked their own rifles, are led to where 12 other rifles are awaiting them, six of which are loaded with blank cartridges. One of these is handed to each man, so that no one knows whether the rifle he holds contains a bullet or not and none can say for certain that the shot fired by him killed the prisoner. The firing party then marches to an appointed position. The commands "Present!" "Fire!" are given and almost before the last word rings out the volley is fired and the spy falls into the grave he has dug. Nearly every man is more or less affected on being selected to form one of the firing party and many men have been known to faint away on being singled out, while others are so overcome as to be scarcely able to pull the triggers of their rifles.

THE ARMY ENGINEER.

Does Not Perform Deeds of Valor, But His Services Are Invaluable.

Some idea of the "general utility" services of the army engineer may be gained from the following remarks made by Capt. Nicholas Ivanovitch, of the Russian army, as reported by Richard Henry Little, war correspondent in the far east in his article "Loafin' Round" with the Engineers" in the Technical World Magazine.

"We have not done the things which bring to one the St. George cross or even the Stanislaus and puts our names in the paper and brings the message from his majesty," said the little captain, as he came back to me black with powder. "We have not charged the enemy or captured many guns or saved the position. We have but made a road over the mountain. That is all. Yet five men, they are dead; six are wounded. We have not fought a battle, yet still, it was not the child's play, and some day when the grand battle it is raging, and they, the Japanese, are pressing hard down that valley over there, and it is wanted to save the day that many troops and many guns be pushed to that position over there at the head of the valley, then this road we have built will save the day because it is the straight line and will be wide and smooth. What say you, my friend?"

Domestic Revolution in India.

Within a few weeks a son of Keshub Chunder Sen, the famous organizer of the Brahmo Somaj of India, has married the widowed daughter of a rajah.

That is an extraordinary rebellion against an ancient rule in India, and the beginning of a domestic revolution which has the support of many advanced Hindoos who do not themselves dare to more than speak in its favor.

One on the Poet.

Office Boy—There are two men out there, sir, who want to see you; one of them is a poet and the other a deaf man.

Editor—Well, go out and tell the poet that the deaf man is the editor.—Tit-Bits.

Where His Advantage Lay.

First Man—How do you do? Second Man—Beg pardon, but you have the advantage of me.

First Man—Yes, I guess I have. We were engaged to the same girl, but you married her.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

COLORADO DEPUTY'S SHOT

Sheriff's Aid Who Could Do Wonderful Things with His Revolver.

While Deputy Sheriff William Ronaldson was in the once "bad" town of Coffeyville, Kan., he got some of the Dalton spirit in his veins and listened to the stories of how four of the Daltons met death at the hands of one man stationed in a shed and shooting through a knothole.

They told Mr. Ronaldson stories of what crack shots the Daltons were and how they picked off every man that appeared on the streets with a gun.

When the Denver deputy was on the train some stranger entered into a conversation about what crack shooters there were in Kansas about the time the Daltons blew into Coffeyville and secured several thousand dollars from a bank.

Ronaldson said: "Yes, there were some good marksmen there, but it is easy to hit a man with a Winchester. In Colorado we use a Colt almost exclusively. Of course, we have no crack marksmen, but I believe I might pick off a prairie dog there while the train is moving."

The stranger flashed a five-spot in Deputy Ronaldson's face and it was covered. Ronaldson snapped out his 38-caliber Colt and without much deliberation, and while the train was in rapid motion, sent one Kansas prairie dog to the eternal sleep.

Deputy Sheriff William Ronaldson, of Denver, was five dollars to the good and friends on the sheriff's force say they would take a hundred similar bets that Ronaldson could do the same nine times out of ten.

TALE OF A TAILLESS CAT.

Feline Had the Instinct of Caudal Preservation Without the Appendage.

"It is well known that Manx cats have no tails," says a writer in the Scientific American, "only slight stumps, and that the offspring of such in other parts of the world, in the first generation at least, are in the same abnormal condition. While living in Scotland 30 years ago we had a Manx kitten given to us, which, although born there, was tailless. The door of our breakfast room was spring-shutting, like most of the screen doors in this country, but opening only toward the inside. Before the kitten was fullgrown he had learned to let himself in by pushing from the outside, but never learned, although we often tried to teach him, to pull it open from the inside.

"It was not, however, the opening of the door from the outside to which I wish to call attention—any cat could have easily learned to do that; but the fact that invariably, after he had so pushed it and got his body partially in, he made a rapid turn or whirl to prevent the tail that was not there (but heredity impressed on him the fact that it ought to have been) from being caught between the closing door and its frame.

"This he did dozens of times every day so long as we had him, and was always willing to show off before our neighbors, as he never seemed to recognize the fact that he had not a tail like his neighbors."

CORAL-REEF FINANCE.

Term Applied to the Patient, Organic Growth of Rothschild's Fortune

"In the first place," it should be remembered that the Rothschild fortune is not industrial," says Vance Thompson, who writes of "The Rothschilds of France," in Everybody's. "It has absorbed many industries and many railroads—like the ligne du Nord—but always by political and financial coups. And it is the least frenzied of finance. By reason of its slow, cold, patient accumulation one might call it (since phrases are the mode) coral-reef finance, so solidly has it been built up in the dusk and silence of the underworld of politics.

"And the fortune of the French house to-day exceeds ten billions. That means $2,000,000,000. Imagination beggars at so huge a sum—it seems merely an endless caravan of ciphers: this 10,000,000,000 of French money. They own or control all the precious metals, the prime materials, mines, credit, the Bank of France, all the means of transport, both railways and waterways—so far as the canal system goes—next to the city, which owns all public buildings, they are the greatest owners of lands and houses in Paris—round the Arc de Triomphe, the Champs Elysees, the Bois de Boulogne, the Park Monceau, and, notably, the Gare du Nord. entire streets belong to the Rothschilds; their chateaux dot the provinces; in land alone they possess 400,000 acres."

Making India Paper.

The process by which India paper is made is a secret known to but three living persons. When one dies another is let into the mystery. In this way it has been preserved ever since it was invented by an officer in the English army. Other thin papers are made, but India paper is peculiar in that print on one side does not show through on the other.

Science to the Fore.

We find intellect working not so much in literature as in the domain of science, which has brought forth during the last few years many strange and wonderful discoveries. If we have not had the poems of Keats or a Shelley, we have had wireless telegraph, radium X-rays and a number of kindred discoveries.—London Academy.

AN OX RACE IN GERMANY.

Beasts Bidden by Their Owners Without Whip or Spurs, Is the Rule.

In many of the out-of-the-way districts of Germany ox racing has long been a very popular sport. The entrance fee for the races is small, but the beasts must be ridden by their owners. The rider is not allowed to have either whip or spur and he must ride his animal bareback, trusting to his voice to guide the beast. It is here that the skill of the rider comes into play, as everything depends upon the training of the ox and the ability of the owner to direct his movements.

As the oxen do not race on a track it is no easy matter to guide them. The race course is a field, perhaps a mile square, the start being made at one side and the finish at the other. Speed is of secondary importance in the race. Like golf, the sport requires accuracy, and the rider who can force his lumbering charger to go in a straight line is certain to win.

When all the competitors are lined up at the starting point the signal to begin the race is given. Then the fun commences, for, in spite of the riders' efforts, the steeds usually refuse to head toward the finish mark. Besides, the difficulties are greatly increased from the fact that the onlookers are allowed to be in the field and may do anything to interfere with the contestants so long as they do not touch him or his beast. Though oxen are naturally the least excitable of animals, the noise of the spectators soon reduces them to a state of utter bewilderment. Often an hour will pass before one of the oxen is ridden under the wire. The victor receives a small money prize, which is nothing compared to the honors brought him by this victory, and the animal is decorated with garlands of flowers. Among the peasants great events are reckoned from the time so-and-so won the ox race.

UTILIZING THE ASSASSIN.

English Writer Suggests That He Be Turned Over to the Doctors.

A medical correspondent of the London Lancet suggests that murderers, instead of being hanged, be turned over to doctors for experimentation. He desires for science the privilege of studying disease in the "laboratory of the human body," and thinks that with this opportunity the scientist "could look forward to almost endless possibilities." Of these possibilities, observes the Philadelphia Ledger, he neglects to set forth details, although mentioning transfer of bovine tuberculosis and the spread of cancer as profitable and interesting problems, the solution of which would be promoted by this plan. He would use the murderer as a field for the malignant microbe, and turn his tissue later into a jousting place for a tilt with the beneficial opposing germ. Science looking on with eye alert, would referee the contest and make record of results. Moreover, so sweet is the faith that in the correspondent abides, he is confident the murderer would acquiesce in the scheme of dying slowly, rejoicing not to have his last pang accentuated by the presence of the uncultured hangman.

The proposition is not new, nor, for reasons easy to cite, can it be made operative. That the chance of being devoured by cancer or phthisis would, as an alternative, be seized with eagerness is an assumption that fails to appeal to the judgment, tempered as this must be by human impulses. And it is of little consequence. The change would be the substitution of torture for quick dispatch, and be on a plane with the Chinese method known as "the death of a thousand cuts," a title grimly explanatory of the process.

DIVINING RODS IN SCIENCE.

Successful Test of Their Power Made in Locating Water in Germany.

A divining rod in modern business is as romantic as it is novel. The occasion for its use presented itself when it became necessary to sink additional wells on the grounds of the imperial navy yard at Kiel for water supply. In this territory water is found overlying an impervious hardpan, the upper surface of which is irregular. In order to avoid the expense of many trial bore holes Herr von Bulow Bothkamp used a piece of iron wire about one-eighth of an inch thick bent in the form of a hoop with long crossed ends. This rod is held by grasping in the two hands its opposite ends which thus serve as an axis, and allowing the loop portions to project horizontally forward from the body. When passing over or near an underground flow of water the loop of the rod flies up sharply, striking the operator's breast. Armed with this instrument the expert first discovered a large underground flow undiscernible from the surface. Next at a driven well which had been closed with a plug some time before, the expert obtained no reaction in spite of the positive statement that this pipe had given an artesian flow. The plug was taken out of the pipe and no water came. Other successful tests were made. At the last spring the expert asked other members of the party to take his rod. Some felt something like an electric shock; others were insensitive.

Mosquito-Killing Fish.

Some very small West Indian fish, locally known as "millions," are thriving in the Zoological Gardens, London. Barbadoes is the home of this species, and it is suggested that the immunity of that island from the malarial mosquito may be due to its presence.

Feeds Cotton Seed Meal.

New Ulm, Texas.

I have been feeding my brood sows as follows: 1 quart cotton seed meal, 1 quart wheat bran and 4 quarts corn chaff every morning and night, 5 ears of corn for 2 sows, and the sows are in fine shape at weaning time. I feed the pigs, 10 of them, some two months old and the others 6 weeks, as follows: 1 quart bran and 2 quarts shorts. You ought to see them; they are as fine as you can find anywhere. They are all full-blooded Poland Chinas. I let the feed stand 24 hours so it sours. I find cotton seed meal hard to beat for hogs and pigs.

W. F. Hotman.

The prejudice of the people against cotton seed oil as a food is unfounded and unreasonable and shows plainly that the Southern people need to be educated.

The products of cotton seed are far superior as feed for stock to the whole seed. It will pay the producer to exchange for the product with their mills and thus aid worthy enterprises in building up Southern industries.

"A hundred pounds of cotton seed meal contains from forty-five to fifty pounds of protein, from eight to twelve pounds of fat and about twenty-five pounds of carbohydrates."

If the raisers of hogs in Texas would take the advice of Col. Allison and feed on oil meal, they would cheapen the cost of hog producing and aid the mills and the cotton raisers in benefiting the whole people.

"Cotton seed hulls have more nutritive value than common hay which costs 50 per cent more, is more convenient to handle, is perfectly free from dust or other foreign matter and is healthful and appetizing."

"In an experience of over 25 years, I have never seen a hog refuse to eat cotton seed meal, or injured by it. Indeed it is not only the best and cheapest feed on earth, but it is an efficient prophylactic and hogs fed on it seem entirely immune to any of the common ills that hogs are heir to."

"Cotton seed meal is the most concentrated and richest food known, has about six times the nutritive value of corn and more than four times that of wheat bran while its cost is one and a half times that of either, and for cattle, horses or hogs will reduce your feed bills and give better results."

"When the sellers of seed become buyers of meal the question of money values for either product disappears and it becomes one of the exchange or barter of the same feeding material in different forms, and this is a phase of the business in which all the mills are, or should be, particularly interested, and in which they stand ready to meet you on more than half way grounds."
